Wanderlusting Mama

TRAVEL TIPS

- Your kid is not too young to travel; they remember smells, voices, music etc..
- Kids under 2 travel free all over the world; take advantage of that! It gets way more expensive once you have to pay a full-price ticket for your little one.
- Take night flights, and let your kids run around the airport to tire them up. Have plenty of entertainment, toys and snacks throughout the whole trip. Last thing you want is a "hangry" kid! Omg!
- Relax, and take the time to enjoy the full experience. Try not to freak out, hence, a nice martini at the airport, and you can keep those cocktails flowing your whole trip if you want; you're on vacation! Treat yourself!
- Find the time to take a GIRLS TRIP! If you can squeeze it in, time-wise and money wise, DO IT! Even if for just a weekend, you gotta. It's good for your soul, and you go back home a better mother when you've relaxed and gotten some you time.
